Light vegetarian and vegan refreshments available; Acoustic guitarist Kyle Baker playing in the garden

Arusha Design's first exhibition for 2018 invites the visitor to explore the world of the "other beings" in the exhibition entitled "A Hidden World".

Share in the delight of the linocuts and wood engravings of Anna Alcock an internationally acclaimed artist previously from Kwa Zulu Natal, the fairies and elves of Andrea Rouillard and the ever-present angels of Chantel Margetts.

Whimsies and other non-functional wood art by Clyde Neumann, Dave Knight, Fred Wright, Heidi Snyman and some standards by Marcus Kruger and Neil Knight will be on display.

Another first for the gallery is the inclusion of South African ceramics with selected works from The Old Jar Pottery. These unique pieces from circa 1935 to 1984 are a must for the collector.

Some of the artists will be at the opening to introduce their work. If the weather permits the turners will demonstrate their abilities on the electric powered lathe with Marcus on the treadle lathe.

The exhibition continues until SUNDAY 31 March 2018.
